

Kay Sharon

Kay Sharon is a lifelong resident of Hardin County. She grew up on a farm outside Vine Grove and graduated from North Hardin High School. She recently was named a Distinguished Alumni of the Hardin County Schools. A graduate of the University of Kentucky with a BA in English and Western Kentucky University with a MA in guidance and counseling and a Rank I in School Administration, Kay retired in 2004 with 30 years of service with the Hardin County Schools where she was a teacher and director of public relations. During her career in public education, she served as president of two statewide professional associations and as a member of the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Association of Schools Administrators for 12 years. In November, 2004, she was elected to the Hardin County Board of Education. She was just re-elected to the Board and is currently serving as Chairman. She also serves on the Hardin County Community Education Advisory Council, on the Education Program Advisory Council at Elizabethtown Community and Technical College and on the Hardin County Crime Stoppers Board.

Kay has been a member of the Elizabethtown Rotary Club since 1991. She became active in the club immediately, serving as bulletin editor her first two years. She continued to serve on the Board of Directors in various service areas for the next four years and was installed as president for the 1997-98 Rotary year. She served as Rotary Assistant District Governor for two years. In 2006, she served as District Governor of Rotary District 6710, overseeing 60 Rotary Clubs in central and western Kentucky. She continues to be active in Rotary International at the district and zone levels. Kay is a Paul Harris Fellow and has attended every district conference since becoming a Rotarian and has been to five international conventions, including one in Copenhagen, Denmark..

Kay lives in Elizabethtown with her son, Matthew, and her four dogs, miniature pinchers Jagger, Jeter and Chopper and miniature dachshund Jack. Her daughter, Lindsey, lives in Campbellsville with husband, Mark, and daughter, MaKayla. In her spare time, Kay enjoys spending time with MaKayla, reading, watching TV, traveling and cheering for the Kentucky Wildcats.
