Next Week's Speaker...

Harlen Davis Wheatley was born in Mt. Sterling in 1969, the older of two boys. He lived there and Hazard before his family moved to Northern KY in 1976. Harlen attended Northern Kentucky University, where he earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Chemistry and a minor in math. After graduation from NKU Harlen moved to the Bluegrass, where he worked full-time at a chemical company and attended UK. While earning his Bachelor of Science Degree in Chemical Engineering, Harlen received his formal training in distillation and separation techniques. In 1995 Harlen came to Frankfort to work as Distillery Supervisor. At Buffalo Trace, he has applied much of his formal education and received intensive "on-the-job" training. Harlen was soon assigned additional responsibilities in the powerhouse/boiler room, maintenance and warehousing, and was promoted to Distillery Manager in 2000.

Harlen became Master Distiller in 2005. He has worked in all aspects of bourbon production, from incoming raw materials to barrel aging. While at the distillery he has driven many initiatives including solidifying standards and consistency, quality focus and efficiency gains. In 2010 Harlen was promoted to lead all the distilling and aging operations for Sazerac that include Frankfort, Bardstown, Owensboro and Fredericksburg, VA. He lives in Frankfort with his wife Heather and two boys, Luke and Jett.
