Next Week in Rotary...

Dr. Scott Smith, Dean of the UK College of Agriculture, will speak to the Frankfort Rotary Club at noon on Wednesday, March 13, at the Holiday Inn in Frankfort. Dean Smith will be introduced by the March program chair, Rotarian Rene Siria.

Dr. Smith has served Kentucky agriculture since 1978, first as an agronomy researcher — an expert on nitrogen in soils — then as chairman of the agronomy Department in the College of Agriculture at UK. Most recently Dr. Smith was associate dean for research at the College of Agriculture.

He became dean of the college in January last year. He was a native of central New York state and holds the bachelor's and master's degrees from Cornell University. Smith completed his doctoral work at Michigan State University in 1978.

Dean Smith is responsible for all facets of the College of Agriculture, including Extension, research and teaching. He was a prolific researcher, publishing more than 50 significant journal articles and reviews. Most were related to the impact of agricultural practices on crop productivity, as well as environmental quality and the ecology of nitrogen-transforming bacteria in soils.

Chairman of agronomy at UK 1989-99, he was in charge of a range of activity in research, teaching and programs in the UK Extension Service. He supervised a faculty of 54 members and 200 other staff employees.

Moving up in 1999, Dr. Smith became associate dean of the college for research, giving leadership for developing the research faculty of the College. He has been dean of the college since the start of last year.

This Week's Program...

Governor Paul Patton spoke to the Rotary Club of Frankfort on the upcoming budget for the Commonwealth of Kentucky. Patton, who is now in his second term as the state's executive, gave an excellent overview of Kentucky economic conditions. He noted that Kentucky was not in the worst economic condition of the states. However, the Commonwealth will have to look at a lean budget for the immediate future. The state will try to maintain the present standards of service, but will not be adding new programs.

The budget affects many of the programs vital to the function of state government. These services will be maintained, but not expanded. Governor Patton also noted that education would be affected by lack of revenue. Patton informed Rotarians that education made up 66 percent of the state's budget. He praised teachers as the "backbone" of the educational system.

While Kentucky's budgetary concerns are affected by many factors, including the state of the national economy, the government of the Commonwealth will cope with the economic difficulties. Some positions will not be filled, and there will be cuts, but the government will meet these challenges, and maintain as best as possible.

Governor Patton received a standing ovation before and after his speech. He told his audience that he had lived in Frankfort for some ten years and was proud of his association with the community. Several members of state government were also in attendance, including Speaker of the House Jody Richards of Bowling Green, who is also a Rotarian. On a historical note: Governor Patton is the first governor to succeed himself in office since Governor James Garrard in 1800.

Congratulations to Beth Johnson for receiving Rotarian of the Month Award.

Happy Birthday!

Happy Birthday to Don Armstrong, Richard Boyer, RB Brown, Tom Fugate, Polly Green, Ethel McCray, Bob Rush, Joseph Scuro, Samantha Scuro and Kelli Summers, who will celebrate their birthdays in March.

2002 Rotary Shadowing Program

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for his or her participation in our annual shadowing program with Western Hills High School. I really feel that the kids were introduced to a wide variety of business and professional vocations located across our community. The extra added treat of having Governor Patton as the speaker for the day, I think, really made an impression on the kids.

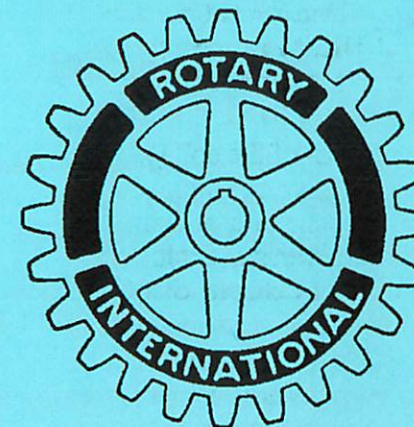

I realize that there were a few glitches in the program and I assure you that I will endeavor to insure that those are corrected next year. R.B. Brown, Bill Wingfield, Steve Dooley, Christina Harrison, Sheila White, Dennis Van Horn, Jim Graves, Robert Roach, Beth Johnson, Terry Barnes and Clay Hulette are to be commended for their understanding and willingness to participate in this program, and I cannot thank you enough for what you do for our club.

-Tom Fugate

This Week's Speaker...

Dr. Scott Smith

Today's guest speaker was Dr. Scott Smith, Dean of the UK College of Agriculture. Dr. Smith was introduced by this month's chair, Rene Siria.

As the new dean of UK's College of Agriculture and director of the state's Cooperative Extension Service, Smith said he has encouraged faculty and staff to pursue solutions that will help Kentuckians, both rural and urban. Dr. Smith said he has always made a strong connection between agriculture and education because his dad worked for Extension his whole career. Smith said, "Ironically, I didn't begin my studies with the intention of going into agriculture. But later on when I started seeing how I could apply what I learned in science classes to agriculture, I was hooked."

Dr. Smith earned his master's and doctoral degree in soil science, and credits Cornell University biochemist John Duxbury with instilling in him a sense of joy in his work. He stated "Professor Duxbury taught me that work is most rewarding when it's approached with a sense of fun and wonder, and I have him to thank for much of the later progress I made in my career."

Dr. Smith admits there are great challenges ahead, but is optimistic about the College's role in meeting those challenges. He says that there is a new spirit of innovation and excitement among our state's leaders, and we want to be a vital part of that. He states that his primary goal as dean is to respond to Kentucky farmers in a much faster and reliable way. We thank Dr. Smith for a most informative program, and to Rene Siria for the invitation.

Rotary Board Meeting

The Frankfort Rotary Board will meet on Monday, March 18, 2002 at the RB Brown Building on Louisville Rd. at 5:30 p.m.

Stephen D. Austin is President and CEO of Bluegrass Tomorrow, a private, non-profit regional planning organization for the Lexington Metropolitan area. Steve was formerly Director of Planning for the Georgetown-Scott County Planning Commission, whose tenure included the arrival of Toyota. The community's 1991 Comprehensive Plan received the Highest Honors Award from the Kentucky Chapter of the American Planning Association.

Bluegrass Tomorrow was formed in 1989 by a coalition of business and conservation interests to promote coordinated growth planning for the seven-county central Bluegrass Region of Kentucky. The guiding framework for the organization is the Bluegrass Regional vision, developed in 1993 through a broad-based regional planning process. Bluegrass Tomorrow promotes an alternative regional approach to planning that balances the need for growth with the preservation of the unique scenic and natural features that characterize the Bluegrass.

Steve received a Juris Doctor degree from the University of Kentucky College of Law and also holds a Bachelor of Science degree in landscape architecture from the University of Kentucky, where he received the National Honor Award for Excellence in the study of landscape architecture. His design for the Royal Spring Park in Georgetown won a national Public Practice award from Landscape Architecture Magazine. Steve is also the designer of Yuko-en on the Elkhorn, the Official Kentucky-Japan Friendship Garden, a Japanese garden in Georgetown. Steve is senior Adjunct Faculty with the Department of Landscape Architecture at the university of Kentucky, where he teaches the 5th year regional planning class.

This Week's Speakers...

The speakers for the day were Mike Oder, superintendent of the Frankfort Independent School District and Wayne Dominick, Communications Coordinator for Franklin County Public Schools. Mike said that Frankfort has a good working relationship with Franklin County which includes testing, reality store, drama club, soccer, college nights, special needs students and community education. At one time, teaching was primarily based on behavioral psychology but it is now more of a science. The brain makes connections at an early age and therefore the school has more early childhood programs to enrich the environment. Emotion and humor are important to brain activity. Wayne talked about changes in vocational and technical schools. The school looks at needs of students not going to college. He talked about the need for students to work with computers and networking. He also mentioned progress on the new Peaks Mill School. Thank you Mike and Wayne for an interesting program.

Rotary Board Action of March 18

Attending: Terry Shockley, Ron Christopher, Bobbye Brown, Bill Miller, Ruth Leathers, Christine Richards, Tom Fugate and Paula Rarden.

- Approved the minutes of the Feb. 2002 Board of Directors meeting.
- Approved the Treasurer's Report dated Feb. 2002 by Pete Walsh.
- Membership report given by Ron Christopher. He will touch base with the attendance committee on Rotarians that are having attendance problems.
- International Service report given by Christine Richards.
- Acknowledged the Group Study Exchange from Brazil will be here the week of May 14-18.
- Discussed the possibility of hosting a group from Russia. Christine Richards will collect more information.
- Worldview Conference had 23 students attend this year. Their topic was Terrorism.

- Vocational Service report given by Tom Fugate. The Frankfort Club speech contest lost to the Harrodsburg Club.
- Approved support for a New Opportunity Grant to Honor Rotary's 100th Anniversary. (No club funds involved.)
- Scheduled next board meeting for April 22, 2002.

Brazilians Here For GSE Visit

Tuesday through Saturday, May 14-18, will be the days and nights when the Group Study Exchange will be visiting homes and families of the Frankfort Rotary Club.

International Service Director Chris Richards reported to the club that the Brazilian team will consist of five members: three men and two women. Their professions will be lawyer, economist, agronomist, English teacher and engineer.

Richards said that the club would like to start signing up families soon to get the arrangements made for hosting the GSE team. She said the schedule for the team will be very busy and that hosts' duties should be relatively simple.

Multi-District Conference Planned

The multi-district Rotary conference will be held in Lexington May 17-19. President Shockley told club members that this would provide an unusual opportunity for our club to take advantage of the opportunity to attend a district conference so close to home. More information will be made available closer to the date.

Information Meeting March 28

Thursday afternoon, March 28, will be the date of our Rotary Information meeting. The event will take place at the Holiday Inn from 5:05 p.m. to 5:45 p.m. on that date. President Shockley has previously announced that attendance at the information meeting qualifies for a makeup.

Time To Sign Up For Highway Cleanup

Sallie Clay Lanham, our environmental committee chair, announced Wednesday that Frankfort Rotary has been assigned its mile of highway for cleanup. A sign giving credit to the club for its part in the Adopt-a-Highway project will be erected on the route, which is 1.4 miles of East U.S. 60 from "Spaghetti Junction" to the East-West Connector on Versailles Road.

Rotarian Lanham said that the group effort will take place Saturday morning, April 20 at 9 am, and the pickup team will meet at McDonald's restaurant on Versailles Road. She had a sign up sheet at the front table Wednesday, but any Rotarian interested can contact her to sign up for the worthwhile event. Her telephone is 695-4472 or her e-mail is lanham@dcr.net. Bring gloves for the job, if possible.

Next Week in Rotary...

Sharon G. Marcum, Executive Director of the Government Services Center, will speak to Frankfort Rotary April 3 on the subject of activities at the Center.

She has more than 20 years' experience in training design and development, training delivery and organizational development. She recently was appointed executive director of the Governmental Services Center, Commonwealth of Kentucky. During her tenure with GSC, Ms Marcum has served as the training manager, in which she supervised a staff of 10 training consultants and support personnel. During another 10 years she was manager of the Kentucky Certified Manager program for GSC. Also during that time she served as vice chair and chair of the executive board of directors of the National Certified Public Manager Consortium, the accrediting agency for CPM programs throughout the nation.

Ms. Marcum is a certified strategic planning facilitator and was instrumental in the development and implementation of the Kentucky strategic planning model for all cabinets in the executive branch of government for the Commonwealth. She also was responsible for the state's process improvement model and curriculum under Governor Patton's "Empower Kentucky" initiative.

As a certified public manager she is a member of the Kentucky Society of Certified Public Managers and of the American Academy of Certified Public Managers. She has the Bachelor of Arts from Eastern Kentucky University and has completed graduate work at the University of Kentucky in public administration.

This Week's Speaker...

Stephen D. Austin, President and CEO of Bluegrass Tomorrow, presented an informative and thoughtful review of what the future may hold for continued urban growth in the central Kentucky area.

Formed in 1989, Bluegrass Tomorrow is a private, nonprofit organization dedicated to responsible urban growth. Austin told Rotarians that growth in the seven-county central Kentucky area would no doubt continue. However, this did not mean that prime farmland had to be destroyed, or the historical integrity of a community be drastically altered. With innovative planning the best of both rural and urban can be maintained. Austin also noted that within 20 years the population of the Bluegrass area could grow dramatically. The need to plan for the ensuing expansion of housing, industry and retail space was paramount if the area remained as one of the most desirable locations in the state and nation.

Brazilians Here For GSE Visit

Tuesday through Saturday, May 14-18, will be the days and nights when the Group Study Exchange will be visiting homes and families of the Frankfort Rotary Club.

International Service Director Chris Richards reported to the club that the Brazilian team will consist of five members: three men and two women. Their professions will be lawyer, economist, agronomist, English teacher and engineer.

Richards said that the club would like to start signing up families soon to get the arrangements made for hosting the GSE team. She said the schedule for the team will be very busy and that hosts' duties should be relatively simple.

Annual Reds Outing Announced

Mark your calendar and join your fellow Rotarians in the annual Cincinnati Reds baseball trip. This year's event is vs. New York Mets and will be on Friday, July 19.

Multi-District Conference Planned

The multi-district Rotary conference will be held in Lexington May 17-19. President Shockley told club members that this would provide an unusual opportunity for our club to take advantage of the opportunity to attend a district conference so close to home. More information will be made available closer to the date.

Time To Sign Up For Highway Cleanup

Sallie Clay Lanham, our environmental committee chair, announced Wednesday that Frankfort Rotary has been assigned its mile of highway for cleanup. A sign giving credit to the club for its part in the Adopt-a-Highway project will be erected on the route, which is 1.4 miles of East U.S. 60 from "Spaghetti Junction" to the East-West Connector on Versailles Road.

Rotarian Lanham said that the group effort will take place Saturday morning, April 20 at 9 am, and the pickup team will meet at McDonald's restaurant on Versailles Road. She had a sign up sheet at the front table Wednesday, but any Rotarian interested can contact her to sign up for the worthwhile event. Her telephone is 695-4472 or her e-mail is lanham@dcr.net. Bring gloves for the job, if possible.

Information Meeting a Success

PDG Len Shirrell reports the following Rotarians attended the make-up meeting March 28 in the Checkers Room at the Capital Plaza Hotel: Frank Dailey, Tom Fugate, Ed Dance, Bill Miller, John Norfleet, Len Shirrell, Terry Shockley, Dick Watkins, Bill Webb, Deborah Williams, Jim Wallace and Chris Young. Some of these did not need make-ups but attended for information. The consensus seemed to be favorable for holding one of these sessions a month for a while to determine need.

Upcoming Speakers:

April 10: Richard Wilson, Interim Director, UK School of Journalism and Telecommunications. Topic: "These Turbulent Times in American Journalism."

April 17: Gordon Davies, PhD, President, Kentucky Council on Postsecondary Education. Topic: "Postsecondary Education."

April 24: Daniel Rabuzzi, PhD, CEO, Kentucky Virtual University. Topic: "Kentucky's Virtual University."

Notable Quotes...

The believer is happy; the doubter is wise. -Hungarian proverb

The happiest is the person who suffers the least pain; the most miserable who enjoys the least pleasure. -Jean-Jacques Rousseau, philosopher and author (1712-1778)

Let proportion be found not only in numbers and measures, but also in sounds, weights, times, and positions, and what ever force there is. -Leonardo Da Vinci, painter, engineer, musician, and scientist (1452-1519)

There is a word sweeter than mother, home or heaven: That word is liberty. -Epitaph on the grave of Matilda Joslyn Gage, suffragist, abolitionist (1826-1898)
