Next Week's Speaker...

David B. Dick was born in Cincinnati, Ohio on February 18, 1930. At the age of 18 months, he and his mother returned to live in her native Bourbon County, Kentucky. After graduating from North Middletown High School in 1948, Dick attended the University of Kentucky, where he received a B.A. (1951) and an M.A. (1956) in English Literature.

His wife Eulalie ("Lalie") Cumbo, a descendant of Kentuckians, was born in New Orleans and grew up in Woodville, Mississippi. They married in 1978. David later left CBS News, Lalie left Revlon International and together they returned to Kentucky, where they founded Plum Lick Publishing in 1992.

Their most recent book, Rivers of Kentucky, was nominated for 2002 Non-Fiction Book of the Year by the Southeast Booksellers Association. David and Lalie's other works include The View from Plum Lick, Peace at the Center, A Conversation with Peter P. Pence, The Quiet Kentuckians, and Home Sweet Kentucky, all of which are rooted in the authors' love for Kentucky and Kentuckians. David's critically acclaimed historical novel, The Scourges of Heaven, was published in 1998.

Lalie writes a column, "Kentucky Women," for the Farm Bureau's statewide newspaper, All Around Kentucky. David is a columnist for Kentucky Living and Appalachian Life magazines. He is a featured speaker for the Kentucky Humanities Council.

Dick worked as a writer for WHAS Radio and Television in Louisville from 1959-66 and became an on-air journalist. In 1966 he was hired by CBS News with his first assignment in Washington, DC (1966-1970). For the next seven years he was based at the CBS bureau in Atlanta, spent a year as Latin American Bureau Chief in Caracas, and worked out of Dallas in the Southwest Bureau until 1985. Dick covered three presidential campaigns by Governor George Wallace and received an Emmy in 1972 for his coverage of Wallace's attempted assassination. During his career with CBS, Dick covered wars in El Salvador, Nicaragua, and Beirut, and Argentina's invasion of the Falkland Islands.

A graduate of the University of Kentucky, David was inducted into the U.K. Hall of Distinguished Alumni and the Kentucky Journalism Hall of Fame. He holds honorary doctorates from Cumberland College and Eastern Kentucky University.

David and Lalie live with their daughter, Ravy Bradford Dick, beside Plum Lick Creek in eastern Bourbon County on land purchased in 1799 by David's great-great-great grandfather Joshua.

This Week's Speaker...

The speaker for the day was Tom Leach, who is a radio personality and an announcer for the University of Kentucky football and basketball teams. He has been broadcasting since the age of 16 when he began his career in Paris, Ky. In 1997 he won the Kentucky Sportscaster of the Year award. Concerning Kentucky's win over Louisville last week, he said he will have to see if the momentum from that game builds. This team may be as great as the 1977 team which went 10-1, which in turn was the greatest team since Coach Bear Bryant. This is the first time Kentucky has beaten a ranked team on the road in a long time. Tom spoke about Coach Guy Morris, saying he approached coaching with a long-term outlook and did not go for a quick fix approach. He had a good game plan for a team which was "calmly confident." Tom stated that it was a tremendous honor and responsibility following Cawood Ledford. Thank you Tom, for a very interesting program which is sure to be remembered as the football season progresses, which will be followed, by another great basketball season.

Rotary Information Meeting

There will be a Rotary make-up and information meeting September 9, 2002, at the VFW on Second Street from 12:05 p.m. until 1 p.m. All Rotarians are welcome.

Next Week's Speaker...

Ray Holbrook, General Manager of ClearChannel broadcast properties in Frankfort: WFKY, WKYW, WKED-FM, the Frankfort Clear Channel Radio Cluster.

Holbrook is a communicator with over a half century's experience in radio and television. His voice is recognizable to most Kentuckians from his years as a Lexington radio personality. He has spent most of his career "turning around" radio stations and a TV station from losing money to making money. Another interesting accomplishment is that Holbrook is the "voice" of the Blue Grass Airport in Lexington.

His writings have been published in various aviation magazines and radio trade publications. Holbrook is an accomplished author focusing on a variety of subjects. A warm, intelligent and sincere man, Holbrook is an asset to the Frankfort community and the Frankfort Rotary Club.

He spent several years with the Radio Advertising Bureau as a Regional Director for the Northeast and later as Vice President of Membership in New York.

Ray and his wife Margie live in Woodford, County, Kentucky. Margie is the advertising manager for The Woodford Sun newspaper.

This Week's Speaker...

The speaker for the day was David Dick, who was a correspondent for CBS news for 19 years. He is the father of Lexington TV personality Sam Dick. He got his start with a Lexington television station making $1.05 an hour from which he was fired. Concerning the Sept. 11 commemoration, he said we need to stop amusing ourselves to death, and that it is possible to do too much commemorating. At this point in time, war seems to be inevitable but he totally is in support of the Commander in Chief if he along with Congress shows proof that the war is essential. A new awareness was born on 9/11 but is it true we will never be the same, and will we make the necessary changes? It is true that we need to sharpen our national defenses if our institutions are worth defending. We need to turn off the entertainment channels and do more reading and reflecting. We must never yield to the terrorists who are probably laughing at our obsession with commemorations. Thank you Mr. Dick for a very thought-provoking talk.

Rotary Board Meeting

There will a Board meeting on Monday, September 16, 2002 at 5:15 p.m., RB Brown Building on Louisville Road.

Nominating Committee Starts Work

The Frankfort Rotary Club Nominating Committee is now accepting suggestions for 2002-03 Officers.

The standard committee set up by club bylaws will soon begin the process of receiving suggestions for members to serve as officers in the next club year, 2002-03. Some of the composition of the nominating committee is set by the rules, consisting of the last five presidents of the club. Additionally, the current president and president-elect also are participating members of the nominating committee.

Don Armstrong will chair the nominating committee this year and members are Ed Dance, Polly Jo Green, Bill Miller and Terry Shockley. President Ron Christopher and Don Dykman, the current president-elect, serve from their present offices.

Christopher also names two at-large members to the nominating committee, one of less than five years in the club and the other a long-term member.

Armstrong has issued an open invitation for any member to contact the nominating committee with either an expression of interest, or with the name of a suggested nominee. Chairs can either be filled by incumbents, officers can move to other positions on the board, or new names can be introduced.

"The willingness to serve faithfully, and to work for the success of Frankfort Rotary are the qualifying factors," Armstrong said. "We need good people who have the best interests of the club at heart," he said. The nominating committee will rate potential candidates on (a) ability to work through others; (b) communications skills; (c) working knowledge of the club, and (d) commitment to Roary.

Next Week's Speaker...

Tony Sholar will talk about a variety of issues regarding our state's business climate, legislative politics, and other interests of the KY Chamber.

As Senior Vice President for Public Affairs for the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, Sholar directs and coordinates the development of the Chamber's policy position on public issues at the state level. He serves as the primary spokesperson on public policy issues for the Chamber. Further, he serves on numerous state policy committees and task forces appointed by the Governor, addressing a range of issues, i.e. labor, education, environment, economic development, taxes, etc. He is actively involved in education in his own community, serving three years on a high school sit-based council and several high school restructuring committees. He has a B.A. in political science from Western Kentucky University.

This Week's Speaker...

The speaker for the day was Rotarian Ray Holbrook, who is the General Manager for three Frankfort radio stations. These stations are owned by Clear Channel, which owns about 1200 radio stations nationwide and about 300 in other countries. He wanted to make it clear that he did not run off Russ Hatter, who voluntarily retired. Although the stations are moving to a new location downtown, the stations are staying downtown and will continue to be a part of the community. For example, Focus on Frankfort is being kept and the Trading Post is being added, which will be a community "swap shop." Once the move is completed to the Potts Building, there will be more control over the music, which is beamed in by satellite. The stations want to make money and providing a service to the community is the best way to accomplish that goal. Thank you Ray for a very interesting program on Clear Channel radio.

Next Week's Speaker...

Ashraf Fahmy,

Islamic Society of Central Kentucky

I started looking seriously to my religion about ten years ago, and have been active for my community, first in Louisville for about that long. We have elections every two years to chose the committee members for the I.S.C.K (Islamic Society of Central Kentucky). This is the second time for me that I have been elected, three years now, as a committee member. I'm also a management committee member for our Islamic Center of Lexington, KY.

I had the chance to talk before many churches, and get to receive guests who visit our Islamic Center here in town and talk with them about Islam. One time we even had a guest who wanted to tell us about his religion and he was welcomed too.

Many times we had some reporters from our TV channels here in Lexington, I had the chance to talk to them. About four years ago, my wife and I were able to save enough money to go on a pilgrimage trip and visit many of the Holy sites in Saudi Arabia. We had the chance to see people from all around the world. They did not speak the same language, yet we were all the same when the ritual started.

About three million people go to Makkah each year from every corner of the globe, providing a unique opportunity for those of different nations to meet one another. Pilgrims wear special clothes: for men it is simple white garments that strip away distinctions of class, color, national origin and culture, so that all stand equal before God, no royalty, just loyalty to the one God and His command. Such a trip is never forgotten by Muslim's mind and is often thought of as a preview of the Day of Judgment. All are the same before The One Judge.

I have been able to arrange with one of my young friends at the Mosque to attend with me, his name is Brandon W. Richardson, and he had accepted Islam a few years ago.

This Week's Speaker...

The speaker for the day was Tony Sholar, who is Senior Vice President for Public Affairs for the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce and directs and coordinates the development of the Chamber's policy position on public issues at the state level. He referred to the Three 'P's, which are policy, politics, and process. Our government involves inherent conflicts and democracy is about partisan politics. There are conflicts between the branches of government and between the House and Senate. There are inherent conflicts between urban and rural areas as to how we allocate our resources. The state Constitution prohibits a deficit budget and in 1995 the Governor was committed to a structurally balanced budget. The budget is the most powerful tool that rewards and sanctions members of the General Assembly. Almost every state today has budget deficits. Kentucky has budgeted more than $700 million than revenue coming in and we have ended up with a structurally imbalanced budget. The question is whether we raise revenues or cut services? Whether we have a special session depends on the leadership agreeing on a combination of raising revenues or cuts. There are two constitutional amendments on the ballot in November. One is the amendment on Family Court and the other deals with corporate restructuring. Thank you Bob Johnston for interesting September programs along with Ray Holbrook who assisted.

No money was moved from the Frankfort Rotary Youth Fund. The $100 donation to the ROAR Program was from the Club.

Directory Corrections

If you were not at Rotary last Wednesday and will not be there next Wednesday to correct your biographical information in the Rotary directory, please call Clay Hulette or Joe Johnson to make sure your information is correct. Many errors have been detected so it is very important that you check the accuracy of the information in the draft of the directory before it goes to the printer.

Otherwise, if there is an error, it will be too late to correct it after next Wednesday, October 2.

Rotary Make-Up and Information Meeting

There will be a Rotary Make-Up and Information meeting Monday, October 14, 2002 at the VFW building on Capital Ave. and Second Street. Meeting begins at 12:05 with soup and sandwich. The meeting will last until 1 p.m.

Calendar of Important Events

(Committee Chairs should notify Paula Rarden of upcoming meetings)

District Governor Club visit Oct. 23.

Keeneland Trip is scheduled for Oct. 24.

Club Assembly scheduled Oct. 30.

Saturday, Nov. 9 is Rotary Day at the United Nations in New York. Contact: Bill Miller.

Tree honors United Nations

UNA members Joe Russell Johnson, Jules Delambre and Len Shirrell are pictured planting a Kousa (or Japanese) Dogwood on Sept. 25. The tree, commemorating the United Nations' inception in 1945, was planted in the arboretum at Juniper Hill Park, near the volleyball court. The tree was purchased by the Kentucky Division of the United Nations Association of the United States of America (UNA-USA).
