Next Week's Program...

Dr. Jim Tidwell is Professor and Chair of the Division of Aquaculture at Kentucky State University. He earned his B.S. degree in biology from the University of Alabama-Birmingham, his M.S. degree in biology from Samford University, and his Ph.D. in aquaculture from Mississippi State University. Dr. Tidwell's research interests include evaluation of alternative feed ingredients and development of culture procedures for new species. He is author or co-author of over 120 refereed journal articles. He has also published two reference books including Aquaculture Production Systems published by Wiley-Blackwell in 2012. He is a Past-President of both the U.S. Aquaculture Society (96-97) and the World Aquaculture Society (01-02). Dr. Tidwell was named KSU's Distinguished Professor for 2014-2015.

The Division of Aquaculture was initiated in the mid-1980s. Originally it was exclusively dedicated to research and extension activities. However, in 1990 the first course was offered on an experimental basis. By 1992 an undergraduate minor in Aquaculture/Aquatic Science was first available, and in 1999 the Council on Post-Secondary Education approved KSU to offer an MS in Aquaculture/Aquatic Science.

Well Said...

A fellow of mediocre talent will remain a mediocrity, whether he travels or not; but one of superior talent (which without impiety I cannot deny that I possess) will go to seed if he always remains in the same place. -Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, composer and musician (27 Jan 1756-1791)
