Next Week's Speaker...

Dr. Jim Tidwell is Professor and Chair of the Division of Aquaculture at Kentucky State University.

Dr. Tidwell

Jim received his BS in Biology from the University of Alabama in Birmingham, his MS from Samford University and his PhD in Aquaculture from Mississippi State University. He has been with Kentucky State University since 1987 and was named a KSU Distinguished Professor in 2014.

Dr. Tidwell has authored or co-authored over 120 articles in referred scientific journals as well as 11 book chapters, and served as editor on two books. He has served as president of both the U.S. Aquaculture Society and the World Aquaculture Society.

The Division of Aquaculture was initiated in the mid-1980s. Originally it was exclusively dedicated to research and extension activities. However, in 1990 the first course was offered on an experimental basis. By 1992 an undergraduate minor in Aquaculture/Aquatic Science was first available, and in 1999 the Council on Post-Secondary Education approved KSU to offer a Master of Science Degree in Aquaculture/Aquatic Science.

Until the establishment of the College of Agriculture, Communities, and the Environment, the Division of Aquaculture was the only program at KSU that addressed all three of the traditional Land Grant university roles: research, teaching, and extension. The Division has class offerings over the full spectrum of aquaculture, including reproduction, nutrition, water quality, physiology, production systems, economics and marketing, and fish disease. The Division also offers online classes at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Board Action

The board approved new member Calen Studler contingent upon no negative response after publication in the newsletter.

About Rotary

Rotary brings together a global network of volunteers dedicated to tackling the world's most pressing humanitarian challenges. Rotary connects 1.2 million members of more than 35,000 Rotary clubs in over 200 countries and geographical areas. Their work improves lives at both the local and international levels, from helping families in need in their own communities to working toward a polio-free world.

Today the Rotary Club of Frankfort celebrated the centennial of the 19th Amendment, which ensured a woman's right to vote. Thank you to our suffragettes from the National American Womens Suffrage Association (NAWSA) for a wonderful program today!
