Next Week's Meeting...

Ed Powe is a graduate of the University of Illinois, Champaign Urbana, receiving a bachelor's degree with a major in zoology and a minor in chemistry and physics. He received his Master of Public Administration degree from Kentucky State University.

Powe

After 24 years of service, Mr. Powe retired as the General Manager of Sears Roebuck & Co. in Frankfort. After 14½ years, Mr. Powe retired as the Director of Educational Outreach from Kentucky State University. While at KSU, Mr. Powe submitted and received several grants ranging from $5,000 to $1,000,000. Under his leadership, the KSU Summer Transportation Institute Program was honored as "Best In The Nation" for three consecutive years; the only HBCU to ever receive this honor. His Entrepreneurial Development Institute was held in eight states and received recognition and honors from the U.S. Department of Transportation's Federal Highway Division.

Mr. Powe was responsible for the naming of a campus building after Tuskegee Airman Roy Chappell, and responsible for a Historic Highway Marker being erected in Chappell's hometown of Williamsburg. Mr. Powe was also responsible for a Historic Highway Marker being erected on the former site of Frankfort's only Black barbershop at the time, located directly across the street from the KSU campus.

Mr. Powe is a community activist. He was the first Black to be invited to join the all- white Frankfort Country Club and was instrumental in eliminating its blackballing of member applications. He has served Frankfort in many positions including: co-founder and President of the Focus On Race Relations organization, Past President of the Frankfort/Franklin County Community Council; Past President of the Board of Directors, Frankfort Chamber of Commerce; Recipient of the Chamber's Program of the Year award; Kentucky State Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors; appointed by the mayor of Lexington to the Lexington Urban County Government's LEXTRAN Board of Directors; recipient of the NAACP Man of the Year award; Board of Directors, Lexington Diocese Newman Foundation, Chairman of the 1986 United Way Campaign, where he introduced Leadership Giving into the campaign.

Mr. Powe is a member of the Frankfort Kiwanis Club, and is the owner and CEO of E.L. Powe & Associates, a consulting company in the area of public speaking, grant writing and entrepreneurial business development.

Mr. Powe has managed candidates in 14 political campaigns. His candidates had never lost an election. In 2020, as the campaign manager for Tommy Haynes, he was planning on giving Frankfort its first Black mayor. However, his candidate came up short by 113 votes out of 12,600 — less than one percent. Today, Powe spends his time attempting to change the culture in Frankfort. He plans to do this by initiating and encouraging open, honest, face-to-face conversations about race and race-related issues.

On July 5, 2019, Mr. Powe and his wife Jan celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, but Ed lost his wife less than a year later. They have one daughter, Kristafer Lynne, who lives in Frankfort and works at the Legislative Research Commission.
