Next Week's Meeting...

Fellow Rotarian and chair of the School of Business at Kentucky State University Gary Stratton will present on activities the School of Business (SOB) is involved in the local business community. "These events such as the KSU Entrepreneurship week coming up in November, as well as other events like our research day, Federal Reserve lunch, career fair, and local business expo all depend on local partnership," he said. "We want the SOB to be that KSU connection to local business and new entrepreneurs."

Stratton

"While I will be presenting what we are doing and some additional goals I have for the SOB and the impact we will have on the local business culture, I will be looking for ideas from you. What are some of the things we can do to become more of a community partner? We want to be a SOB for our students, and the region as a whole."
